WHEELING, JANUARY 5, 1894.

For the Needy.

The INTELLIGENCER will receive and acknowledge publicly any subscriptions that may be sent in for the relief of the destitute of Wheeling and hand the same over to the citizens' relief committee. The following have already been received:

Sugan has reached the lowest price on record. This is a great time for record-breaking.

A Pension Case.

Recently the INTELLIGENCER told of the case of Daniel A. Long, of this city, late of Company H, First West Virginia Volunteer Infantry. Long was receiving a pension of eight dollars a month and sent in his voucher as usual. Instead of getting his money he was informed that he had been suspended. His protest went in promptly and Mr. Pendleton was asked to see about it.

Now the department of Hoke Smith has changed its mind. Long is restored to the roll, but at a reduction of two dollars a month, and "the pensioner will be given an opportunity to furnish evidence that he is entitle I to his present pension of eight dollars per month." Long is no more-and no less-entitled to a pension now than when he was suspended; and the pension bureau has no better reason to give him six dollars month than it has to give him eight.

As the case stands this veteran is as much entitled to his old pension of eight dollars a month as to his new pension of six dollars; and if he is drawing a pension illegally he is not entitled to any. If he wants the old rate restored he must go the thing all over and prove himself worthy, instead of the pension bureau proving him unworthy to hold his place on the roll.

If pensioners become disheartened and accept what the department of Hoke Smith will give them rather than pursue the matter further, the Democratic party will be able to show very considerable retrenchment in pension disbursements.

THE mild winter is a great boon to the needy. The difference up to date between this sort of weather and real winter may be expressed in thousands of tons of conl.

Reduced Revenues.

When the Democrats talk about reducing revenues they mean the money that goes into the national treasury. The reduction of the revenues that used to go into the pockets of the people is a matter so delicate that Democratic politicians don't like to talk about it. It is, however, a condition, not a theory, that confronts the people, and they are not feeling kindly to the party that has brought it on them. This particular condition is pressing hard on the men who find themselves without work and without the means of subsistence. This is the great calamity of the time, and the country is not yet through with it.

Spaceaprions to the relief fund are slow, but the demands on that fund are not. Those who wish the movement well will realize that it must have sup-

The Wilson Lumber Duty.

It is explained that the admission of foreign lumber without duty will put a stop to the destruction of our forests. It seems so, and the men who have been earning their living in the lumber industry will have the proud satisfaction of knowing that they are making a valuable contribution to posterity.

So long as we can continue the free lumber policy it will be foreign forests that will be stripped-to the great satisfaction of everybody interested in the lumber industry in Canada, for example.

These able thoughts are respectfully submitted to those portions of West Virginia in which timber is about the only representative of ready money.

Democrats would like it better if he would keep quiet and let Democratic delinquencies pass unnoticed. That would be altogether nice, but Boutelle will continue to smite them hip and thigh. If they wish to be let alone they should give no provocation to severe criticism.

Secretary Morton's "Official Business."

The Intelligences is in receipt of the two addresses delivered in Chicago by the Hon. J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture, which caused so many granges to jump on him. They are spirited, interesting addresses, and the INTELLIGENCER is glad to have them in convenient pamphlet form. The pamphlet bears the imprint of a Baltimore concern and is a very neat production. The imprint of a private concern answers the criticism that the pamphlet was set up in the government printing office, printed on 'a government press and was produced at the public cost.

But there is a little matter connected with the circulation of the pamphlet which is not so easily understood. It comes without postage, under the official penalty cover, which reads: "U. S. Department of Agriculture, Official Business. Penalty for private use $300." The pamphlet is not issued by the department of agriculture; is not official business; the cover has been put to a private use. Here is a clear violation of the law, and Mr. Morton is liable in the sum of $300 for every one of these official covers he has used.

If his colleague in the cabinet, Attorney General Olney, will proceed to collect this very large aggregate of penalties he will have the credit of adding something handsome to the depleted funds in the treasury. It he gives Secretary Morton to understand that he means business it is probable that the money will be handed over without the scandal of a trial and conviction.

Mr. Morton would at once see the point if it were presented to him with the business end forward.

Ir is the hope of the New York World that "the Olney resignation rumor has more foundation that' the attorney general's opposition to trusts." This is what the boys call a "spurn." Mr. Olnev will hardly resign because of criticism. He didn't go into the cabinet to light into the trusts. He and the President understand each other.

THE more the Wilson bill is turned over the more opposition there is to it and the more probability there is of Democratic votes going against it; but after all it is for the Democrats to say what they will do with their majority. If they be determined to use it against the welfare of the country, the country will have to make the best of it.

It is remarked that not one mass meeting has been held yet to urge the passage of the Wilson bill, but very many of the other sort have been held. Of course this will make no difference to Prof. Wilson and his coparceners, but it is a whole stack of straws that show which way the wind blows.

THE Fairmont Index opens the year with a development edition of twenty pages handsomely printed and embellished with excellent illustrations. This very creditable performance is a record of Fairmont's progress and a prophecy of better things to come. The Index has done its community a great

Another new party has been born and Mr. Wharton Barker, of Philadelphia, is one of its parents. It would be very agreeable to Mr. Barker if he could have a party of his own and just to his taste. In this undertaking Mr. Barker has associated with him Mr. T. V. Powderly, at this time unemployed.

For the benefit of those who did not begin at the beginning of the World's Fair art portfolios the INTELLIGENCER has made a special arrangement which is explained in the advertisement. This is done in response to many inquiries and requests to give another chance to get a good thing.

The rise in the river has given Cincinnati her Pittsburgh, coal at six cents a bushel, owing to the glutted market. Notwithstanding the low price buying is not brisk. It is thought that the market may go even lower. It is significant that Kanawha coal holds its own.

THE finance committee of council has been called for to-night to take up the suggestion of the board of public works and the relief committee. There should be a full attendance and prompt work all along the line. Now is the time for measures of relief.

THE Wilson bill is put at Democrats as a party measure which the country has ordered the Democratic party to put through. Did the country at the same time order the Democratic party to pass an income tax? "We pause for

New York city is about to elect two congressmen to fill vacancies, and it is estimated that the public cost will be about $58,000. They come high, but we must have them.

THE Democrats have majority enough to keep a quorum of the house on hand, provided they can control their membership. They might work the thing in reliefs.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

In the death of George Miller Somerset county, Pa., lost one of her most remarkable characters. Miller was siezed with smallpox when only three years old, and since then he had been totally blind. Some fifty years ago he learned to make hand hay rakes, and he made them so well and substantially that he soon built up a large trade and became widely known as "the blind rakemaker.

An artist employed on a Milwaukee paper, too busy to have a wedding, telephoned to his typewriter bride to come to his office when she had finished her day's work. Then he sent a messenger for a minister, and the members of the editorial staff were called into the illustrating room to witness the ceremony.

It takes just twenty-eight generals to command the 10,000 Spanish troops now employed at Melilla in subduing the rebellious Riffians. As each general has a large staff its not surprising that the barbarians are still unconquered.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Prof. J. C. Russell, who made, in 1892, the nearly complete ascent of Mount St. Elias and the Malaspina glacier, perhaps the highest North American peak, lectured before the Appalachian Mountain club in Boston recently. He told the story of his climb, which is considered to be one of the most notable geographical explorations made in this country in recent years.

An art exhibition announced at Bristol, England, is to he composed of exhibits by Bartram Hiles, an artist who lost both arms when he was a boy, but whose devotion to art was so unconquerable that he learned to draw, holding the pencil in his mouth. The South Kensington museum authorities sent him to Paris to study at the expense of that institution.

Sir Samuel Baker, whose death is recorded, was not only a famous explorer, but he was also a writer of unusual ability. He possessed the rare faculty of presenting his personal experience in the most thrilling manner and at the same time with becoming modesty. Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Crapo, now of the schooner Oriole, from New Bedford, Mass., crossed the Atlantic together in 1877 in a little dory only nineteen feet long. They were forty-nine days and nine hours from New Bedford to Penzance.

DEMOCRATS REPUDIATE IT.

Five Representative Democratic Newspapers Against the Wilson Bill. Richmond (Va.) Times (Dem.)

Enterprises in coal and iron ore are far from being the only Virginia industries that will be injured by the Wilson protective tariff free trade bill.

Lime is manufactured in twenty-two states, and its manufacture employs hundreds of thousands of hands in quarrying, cutting wood, etc. We have a number of lime manufactories in Virginia that are and have been doing a prosperous business. The Wilson bill reduces the duty on lime to 10 per cent ad valorem, which makes the tax about three cents on the barrel. This will kill ail the American trade in lime along the Atlantic coast, and will transfer the benefit of it to New Brunswick, where the people can manufacture lime for but little more than half what it costs here.

A New Bill Demanded. Cleveland Plaindealer (Dem.)

It is to be hoped that the finance committee of the senate will comprehend in its fullest degree the necessity of amending the Wilson bill, or of providing a new one that will be fair to all the industries of the country; that will have a line of logic running through it so strong for revenue and incidental protection that many fairminded men, both Democrats and Republicans, will come forward and support it.

A Loyal Representatives

Troy Press (Dem.) If representatives of other manufac-turing districts were so faithful as Charles D. Haines, Democrat, is to his constituents, the destructive Wilson bill would be speedily killed. There is a vast difference between pothouse politicians pottering about patronage and an honest congressman working hard to protect and further the joint interests of capital and labor, upon which our common prosperity depends.

The Senate Will Doctor It. Washington Dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer

One thing now seems certain. It is that the Wilson bill cannot become a This does not mean it may not pass the house as it now is. Indeed, the chances are it will, for the President is master in the lower branch.

The senate, however, will rip it to pieces. Its first mauling will be in the finance committee, and after that the gamut of the body. The senate will exercise a deliberation upon it which white house influence cannot intercept.

A Huge Humbug. New York Sun (Dem.)

Taking revenue and anti-revenue together the Wilson bill is a fantastic and personal bill. It is a jumble of unconstitutionalities and favoritisms, compounded to gratify the more powerful applicants for license to rob, and to vindicate the hobbies of Grover Cleveland put on record previous to the Chi-cago platform. It is the greatest hum-

Pittsburgh, Jan. 4 .- An important meeting of the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of Pittsburgh and the surrounding territory will be held at Masonic hall, Allegheny, next Sunday. Between 400 and 500 delegates from the roads between Altoons, Pa., and Columbus, Ohio, are expected. It is known that the engineers of the local roads have a number of grievances, both as regards hours and wages, and these, it is said, will be discussed.
